We serve South Florida....and way beyond

Nestled in the center of the booming South Florida market, Gannett Offset / Florida also serves as the gateway to South America and the Caribbean. Publications from across Florida, as well as from locations as diverse as New York City and San Juan, Puerto Rico, come to Miramar for the quality, service and delivery that Gannett Offset / Florida has come to be known for. Established in 1985 as the region's printer for USA TODAY, we are able to put our years of experience as innovators in newspaper production to use for the publishing market in South Florida and around the world.

The color you need, the delivery you expect

The Goss Urbanite press is known throughout the world for consistent quality and reliability. When it's your business that's on the line, our eighteen printing units will give you the color capacity and flexibility to grow your publication and thrill your advertisers. We offer 144 tabloid pages in a single pass, with many combinations of color positions available.

We have global distribution capability

At Gannett Offset / Florida, we will work with you to develop a customized distribution plan to fit your needs. Through close relationships with the region's daily newspapers, we participate in print-and-deliver programs, as well as preparing your publication for home delivery, newsstand, and even Postal distribution. Our central location offers easy access to both Port Everglades and the Port of Miami for export, and direct access to interstates for domestic deliveries.

Hablamos Español

Because we are in the business of communication, our diverse customer base motivates us to communicate in many forms, and in many languages.

Nosotros sentimos que la comunicación es la parte más importante del proceso de producción y el poder entender las necesidades de nuestros clientes nos ayuda a servir les mejor.

Nuestros representantes de ventas y oficiales de producción hablan varios idiomas y pueden guiar su publicación aunque su distribución sea local, nacional, o internacional.

We can take it! Whatever form your publication might be in, from paste-up boards to magnetic or optical media, to electronic media, we can take it. We are able to customize the production process to meet the unique needs of every publication, from large, general circulation weeklies to monthly or quarterly niche publications. Full T1 bandwidth allows us to transfer large amounts of data in a short time frame, giving publications additional time to focus on their core product.
