A Solid Reputation Built on Quality, Service and Cost Effectiveness

In our twenty-six year history Gannett Offset/Minneapolis has grown to become one of the premier commercial printers in the upper Midwest, offering an impressive selection of products and services. With seven heatset and coldset web presses, and two sheetfed presses, we have few limitations on the types of printed products we can produce. Couple this with extensive digital pre-press services, and a comprehensive finishing department that includes mailing and fulfillment, and we are positioned to enable our customers to complete their projects under one roof. No more worries about coordinating several different suppliers, bouncing jobs from one plant to another with the inevitable delays, lost or damaged product and cost overruns. It's the consistent quality, control and money-saving advantages you have been searching for.

Combining Leading Edge Technology With Old-fashioned Customer Service

It's the first one of its kind to become operational in the US, it's Gannett Offset/Minneapolis' MAN Roland Uniset 70 press featuring shaft-less technology. And it consistently ranks at the top in print quality among all thirty-six sites that print USA TODAY. If your marketing/communication needs include non-heatset web products, you can't help but be impressed with the superb image quality and flexibility this press offers. And on the heatset side, we pioneered imprinting and versioning and remain one of the leading producers of this product that is so effective in today's targeted-market environment. With four heatset press lines, both long and short cut-off, we have the versatility to produce a wide variety of formats. Top-quality equipment run by experienced professionals whose number one priority is meeting your expectations, that's the combination that keeps our customer satisfaction level consistently high. No one in the industry cares more about satisfying your needs than the folks at Gannett Offset/Minneapolis.

Our Variety of Services Gives You So Many Options

Let's start with our digital prepress department, equipped with today's latest and greatest technology for superior quality and consistent performance. We accept virtually all file formats and mediums, which allows you to use the programs that you are familiar with, the ones you are comfortable using. In the bindery, it's cutting, folding, stitching, inserting, packaging, inside/outside ink jet addressing,

Cheshire labeling, shrink wrapping, fulfillment...we do it all. From a very small run to a mammoth project with multiple tasks, we have the equipment and the expertise to complete it, on time and within budget. When it comes to mailing, utilizing the services of the US Postal Service is as much an art as a science. We know mailing and have an excellent working relationship with the USPS, making the system work for optimum efficiency. We can put the finishing touch on all your projects and it's spelled, s-a-t-i-s-f-a-c-t-i-o-n.
